Mr. Lap Man, Founder & CEO of DYXnet Group Honored as "Who's Who Chinese Business Leader"

HONG KONG, Feb. 25, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- DYXnet Group, Greater China's ICT (Information and Communication Technology) service provider, is pleased to announce today that Mr. Lap Man, Founder & CEO of the Group, is awarded the "Who's Who Chinese Business Leader" Honor Certificate by Asian College of Knowledge Management ("ACKM") at "Nobel Laureates Fellowship and Honorary Award Presentation Ceremony 2013/14", recognizing Mr. Man's contribution to the IT industry and the society as a whole. This year, the ceremony, which was held at Hong Kong Baptist University, successfully invited two Nobel Prize laureates, Professor Ada E. Yonath and Professor Ei-ichi Negishi, to attend and confer the honorary fellowships together with the honorees of the "Who's Who Chinese Business Leader".

Mr. Man stated, "It is a great honor to be recognized by ACKM and receive this Honor Certificate. During all these years, my goal is to bring the latest and most advanced technology to the market, aiming to provide seamless network communications and IT solutions to companies of all sizes. This recognition means DYXnet is a well-recognized market leader of our respective businesses. I am proud of myself and my team that we work together over the past 14 years and closely monitor the market trends in order to make DYXnet grow into a sizable enterprise, serving customers in over 700 cities in Asia with the best solutions. Backing up by such a meaningful Honor, it will drive us to continue providing the best-of-the-breed service offerings, quality customer services as well as to contribute more to the society to help the minors via various charity events like what we did in the past."

ACKM is a non-profit organization dedicated to the continuous development, promotion and application of knowledge management principles, models and techniques in Asia. Its selection criteria of the "Who's Who Chinese Business Leader" include: 1) leadership (credibility, influence and special status in the industry or society); 2) leadership performance (outstanding achievements, special contributions and performance in the industry or society); 3) expertise (experience, innovative technology and professional recognition); and 4) corporate citizenship (with record in participating charity activities, such as donation for education and environmental protection).

All leaders awarded will be included in the "Who's Who Chinese Business Leader", which is published by Commercial Press, and sold through approximately 100 bookstores, online bookstores and Chinese communities in other countries/regions such as Macau, Singapore, Malaysia, the U.S. and Canada. Complimentary copies can be found in worldwide famous universities such as The University of Hong Kong, Harvard University, MIT and Stanford University. It will also be sent to public libraries, principal officials and chambers of commerce in Asia.
